Award Description

The Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation Research Award in Women's Health is intended to support research related to women's health during their life cycles from puberty to post menopause within The Research Institute of St. Joe's Hamilton.

General

This document governs the components of the online application process and provides a description of what is required in order to submit an online application. Please go to the St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton research website to access the application documents. Frequently asked questions (FAQ) are available within the website for your reference. A fully completed submission is to be saved in pdf format, except where noted, and emailed to research@stjoes.ca. Adobe Acrobat version 8 or higher is required. Additionally, please review the 015-RSJ-H Research Institute Award Program policy.

Governance

This funding opportunity will comply with the Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation Research Award in Women's Health Guidelines and the 015-RSJ-H Research Institute Award Program policy.

Process

The Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation Research Award in Women's Health competition consists of a single application process for eligible independent researchers. The Award Review Committee (hereby referred to as the Committee) will review the applications for the Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation Research Award in Women's and then forward their recommendation to the Scientific Director who has final approval of the awarding of the funding. All applicants will be notified of the results of their applications in June.

Funding

The value of the award is up to $100,000 and funding would generally start in September. There will be no option for automatic renewal of a Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation Research Award in Women's Health, however previously successful researchers are able to apply to future Women's Health Award competitions. There will be one award awarded per year.

Progress Reports (Interim, Progress, Final, and Presentation)

An interim report on the research project will be provided to the St. Joseph's Healthcare Foundation and Research Administration six months from the start of the project. An annual Progress Report will be required, based and dependent upon, the length of the study provided in the application, and a Final Report will be due to Research Administration upon completion of the research project. An in-person presentation of the research findings will be made to the Teresa Cascioli Charitable Foundation, as well as providing a copy of the Final Completion Report.

Research Proposal

The research project must conform to the following requirements:

1. The timeline for the project's completion must be clearly stipulated, and must start in the fiscal year of the award competition.
2. Must include a budget of how the funds will be allocated.
3. The research project must be specifically related to women's health issues from puberty to post menopause.
4. The research project must fall into one of the following categories:

- Systematic investigation - in the definition of SR&ED is an approach that includes defining a problem, advancing a hypothesis towards resolving that problem, planning and testing the hypothesis by experiment or analysis, and developing logical conclusions based on the results.
- Basic research – work undertaken for the advancement of scientific knowledge without a specific practical application in view.
- Applied research – work undertaken for the advancement of scientific knowledge with a specific practical application in view
- Experimental development – work undertaken for the purpose of achieving technological advancement for the purpose of creating new, or improving existing, materials, devices, products or processes, including incremental improvements.

Eligibility

1. Applicants must be associated with The Research Institute of St. Joe's Hamilton in an appropriate category (refer to the research institute policy 002-RSJ-H Researcher Affiliation with Research St. Joseph's – Hamilton); in good standing.
2. Available to independent researchers (as defined below) who are principally located at one of the St. Joseph's Healthcare campuses.

Independent Researcher (derived from CIHR definitions <http://www.cihr-irsc.gc.ca/e/34190.html>)

An individual who:

- a. is autonomous regarding their research activities; and
- b. has an academic or research appointment which:
 - allows the individual to pursue research projects, to engage in independent research activities for the entire duration of the project(s), to supervise trainees, and to publish the research results; and
 - obliges the individual to conform to institutional regulations concerning the conduct of research, the supervision of trainees, and the employment conditions of staff paid with CIHR funding.

Note: An individual, who meets the above requirements but is also a "trainee" as defined in this glossary, is considered an "independent researcher" provided that:

- c. the research proposal covers only areas of investigation for which they are an independent researcher and not areas of research in which they are a trainee; and
- d. they have sufficient time to devote to the proposed research.

Review Process
